Property Name: Ford House and Garage

Address: East Main Street, Stevensville, Maryland

Owner/Taxpayer I. D. Number: Country Store Partnership/52-147-7213

Description:

The Ford House is a modest, three-bay, two-story house, one room deep, with a rear ell. The front (south) facade of the vernacular style building features an altered, three-bay front porch. The exterior siding is asbestos shingles. Roofing material is shingle-patterned, stamped metal. The fenestration is consistently two over two double-hung sash. The east elevation has no window openings. The north elevation features the rear ell which itself has additions on both the east and west facades and an altered window and rear entrance on the north facade. An exterior brick chimney abuts a projecting portion of the west elevation of the rear ell. The west elevation of the main block features one window on each level.

The entire interior of the Ford House was re-worked in the late 1960s or early 1970s. Immediately opposite the front entrance is a new staircase, open to the west room. The east room leads to the rear ell, divided into a kitchen, large pantry and half-bath (which also contains the furnace). The second floor has a similar configuration.

The photographs illustrate the replacement items dating from the previous renovation: stairs, trim, gypsum board walls, baseboard heating elements, doors, flooring, kitchen cabinets, ceilings. The only exception is what appears to be original wood flooring in the west room of the second floor. Please see Photo #24. The alterations shown in the photo would seem to indicate a former location of the stairwell. In all but one of the bedrooms on the second floor the wall and ceiling finishes are pine veneer paneling. All door and window trim has been replaced with trim that matches the paneling. The east room of the rear ell (second floor) has been refinished with gypsum board. The doors and windows have simple trim.

The Ford House is set close to the street on an average-sized lot. A driveway on the west side of the building leads to a former gable-roofed frame barn, converted to a garage at an unknown date. The original barn portion is two-stories high with a one-story shed roof addition which wraps around the east and north facades. The windows are 6/6 double-hung sash. Corrugated metal roll-up doors were added to the garage bays on the south facade. The roofing is corrugated metal. The original barn portion features vertical barn boards, visible from the interior. The entire building has been re-sided with plywood to which is applied the asbestos shingle siding that matches that of the house.

The interior of the west section of the garage consists of the original barn-boards on the west and east walls, a gravel and earth floor and exposed joists supporting the second floor. The barn boards are in fair condition. Studs and beams show a considerable amount of deterioration. The joists have had to be reinforced. The interior of the shed addition at the rear northeast corner is finished in plywood sheets. The interior of the east garage bay is finished in particle board. A short steep staircase in the middle of the first floor leads to the second floor where plywood was used to partition off a room in the southeast corner. There are no significant interior features in the former barn.

Signifigance:

The Ford Garage is a candidate for certification of significance on the basis of its late 19th century date of construction and the intent of the owner to return the building to its former appearance as a barn.

The Ford House contributes to the significance of the Stevensville Historic District as an example of late 19th century modest housing. Its location close to the commercial center is indicative of Stevensville's historic character as a "crossroads town." By its similarity to neighboring buildings in scale, height, materials, type of construction and association, it adds to the district's sense of time and place and historical development.
